

During this family-friendly presentation, Emily Palen, MS, LGC will define etiological diagnoses and functional, behavior-based diagnoses and explain the differences between them. Her goal is to answer the questions of how these diagnoses are used in schools, and why it is important to understand the distinction. This understanding will enable families to advocate for their children in the school setting and as they become adults and will empower them to teach the teachers about 22q.